BRIDGE WILL BE BUILT ACROSS THE RED DEER

If Site Can Be Found Suitable For A Wooden Structure Strong Enough

The Hon. C. R. Mitchell, provincial treasurer, has advised The Mail that the Minister of Public Works has instructed the bridge augineer to make an inspection of the Red Deer river for the purpose of locating the most suitable site for the construction of a bridge, to take care of the traffic originating in the southerly portion of the Hand Hills constituency and which naturally seeks a market point on the Empress-Bassano line.

As soon as weather conditions will permit, the inspection will be made and should the report be favorable, the department of Public Works will construct the bridge this year.

Owing to the advance in the price of steel, which is almost treble the ordinary price, and owing to the uncertainty of delivery from the factories, the department has decided that if a site can be found where a timber bridge will be reasonably sure to withstand the ice and high water, the construction will proceed forthwith.

This picture has taken Great Britain by storm. It is the greatest war film that has been made. Millions of people in England have flocked to see it in the last few weeks. It is said a million people visited the theatres where it was shown in the City of London alone during the first week or so of its exhibition. The King and Queen saw it, and the King advised everybody to see it. Mr. Lloyd George, the Prime Minister, said the picture should reach to everybody, and the King, the British Commanders on the front changed none of the subtitles, but found no other changes necessary. The British Government sanctioned the film as an official historical record of one of the

It is the first war film that was ever allowed to pass without coming under the official British censorship. The authorities of the War Office ordered that no change of scene be made after the film was once shown for public exhibition. This film was given to the Empire to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the British volunteers' army. Kitchener's army which broke the deadlock of two years' standing on the western front, and out-matched the best trained and equipped professional army of the world ever known. No sacrificial charges were to be made in the wonderful film that recorded their victory.

In last week's Mail appeared a small item from the C.P.R. bulletin suggesting that information regarding the undeveloped natural resources be furnished Arthur D. Little who has been authorized to make a Natural Resource Survey of the Dominion. This is at the suggestion of Lord Sutherland, president of the C.P.R., and the latter corporation intimates that "patriotism, local pride or self interest should lead one to place as much information as possible in the hands of the Director of Survey." By undeveloped natural resources, The Mail presumes the bulletin in particular would include natural resources not applied to the use of man in any manner, or in other words natural resources going to waste. Motives of patriotism, local pride and self interest lead The Mail to call to the attention of Arthur D. Little Limited, the fact that in very close proximity to Bassano, there are thousands of horse power going to waste at the Bassano dam. The Mail presumes to be no engineer of any kind, and doesn't know exactly to what use the vast quantity of water going over the dam could be put. But it would be as well for Arthur D. Little Limited, to know that at least there is one vast natural resource going to waste absolutely and unequivocally, and it would be as well for that firm to include that same little thing in its survey.

The Mail of course has no use for that water, but there may be others who could use it for power for some purpose or other. It might be utilized to run a lighting plant, it might be used to run a pumping station, it might be used for hundred and one purposes, but that is apart from the question. The fact remains, however, that here is one little natural resource that is going to waste by the hour every day.

Tomorrow night the merchants of the town are expected to meet in the town hall for the purpose of appointing a delegate or delegates from the town to accompany the bridge delegation of Hutton, on their trip to Edmonton to interview the Ministers and petition for a bridge across the Red Deer. This delegation will take up with them a petition signed by almost every farmer across the Red Deer pointing out the need of a bridge.

As far as can be learned the delegation will ask for a bridge at Emerson's ferry, which might not be the very best location to benefit the town of Bassano, but whether that will be the final location should the request of the farmers be granted, is of course, not yet conceded. Engineers will probably be on the job and select the most suitable site, so that a bridge asked for at any particular site, need not be the site selected. In fact it might be well for the petitioners to leave the site to the discretion of the government.

But whether or not the attention be at Emerson's, Hutton, or Finnegan's ferry, Bassano should do her best to assist in getting some means of crossing the Red Deer river for the farmers who have located there and are making a success of their avocation. Bassano should not be selfish, and if it is not possible to get the bridge where it will most benefit this town, then help to get one some place. The construction of one bridge will necessarily mean another some other time. And so the merchants of the town should turn out tomorrow night and boost for this most necessary structure.

However, there is no bridge built yet, and no particular promise of one, and even promises sometimes amount to very little, but the delegation should get the promise at least. If that promise fails to mature in reasonable time, then it is up to the farmers to bother the government again. Keep at it, and make the government spend some of the money taken from the pockets of the farmer right where it should be spent.

In another column is a news item given out by Hon. C. R. Mitchell regarding the bridge proposition across the Red Deer. You will notice there are plenty of promises and loop holes for the government to crawl through if they want to.

Buy an Irrigated Farm from The Canadian Pacific Railway.

BECAUSE: Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rain-fall, and insures good crops, not seasonally, but EVERY YEAR.

Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of feeders, which insures best returns in dairy and mixed farming. Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlement, with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community. Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, the year 1914 having absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.

You can buy irrigated land from the Canadian Pacific Railway at prices ranging from $25 to $75 per acre, with twenty years to pay, and the privilege of a loan of $2000 for improvements (8% interest) on principal payment at the end of first or second year and no water rental for first year.

Assistance is also given in supplying stock in approved quantities.

This is the most liberal offer of irrigated farm on record. Get full particulars from—

NON-IRRITATING. EFFECTIVE. INEXPENSIVE.

YOU can't afford to let lice, ticks, fleas and mites eat your stock alive. Get a supply of KRESO DIP and follow directions. It will put an end to the parasites and give the stock a chance to thrive and put on flesh. Use it in barns, hog pens, chicken houses and dog kennels—any place where there are vermin.

KRESO DIP is a coal tar product. It mixes readily with water. It does not burn or irritate like carbolic acid. It does not blister or take the hair off like kerosene. It costs less and does more than any of these. You can't make a better investment than to buy some Kreso Dip to kill lice, ticks, mites and fleas and prevent disease by destroying the germs.

One gallon of KRESO DIP makes 60 to 75 gallons when mixed with water. Each lot is STANDARDIZED by the manufacturers, therefore always the same.

The Wizard who put Music into millions of homes

As you sit in your own home and listen to the stirring strains of a military band—or the liquid, luscious notes of a far famed singer—do you realize the thanks that you, and all other music lovers, owe to Thomas A. Edison? As you know, Mr. Edison invented sound-recording and sound-reproducing instruments. It was due to his genius that millions of homes are able to enjoy everything in music.

It was due to Mr. Edison's efforts that you—no matter where you live—may have the great artists, the famous bands, the cleverest entertainers, the brightest public speakers, right in your home.

For more than thirty-six years, Mr. Edison has developed and improved the Edison Phonograph and Edison Records.

The NEW EDISON DIAMOND AMBEROLA

—the latest development of his phonograph—with its diamond reproducing point (requiring no needles)—has a softness, a richness, a velvety smoothness, a wealth of delicate overtones, that cannot be obtained with any instrument using metal needles, which must be changed with every record.

You really must hear the Edison to appreciate it to the full. Won't you come in and let us play some of your favorite pieces for you?

Every letter which enters the Divisional Headquarters is received by the War Relocation Authority, is indexed and recorded in what is known as a press slip. This slip is filed away against the almost impossible combination of the name of the sender and the letter. All important letters are also registered in a book. They are then distributed to the branch concerned and the officer concerned is kept in charge in the shortest possible time. When the officer has replied the letter and a copy of his reply arrives at the War Relocation Authority, it is secret and it is an offence to mutilate or change it in any manner. English Bishop Visits Russian and Gives His Impressions

The first Englishman to return from an English prisoner-of-war camp in Germany, the bishop of Exeter, who thus sums up his impressions: "I am not at all surprised to find that among my countrymen lies made much of the fact that I am an Englishman, and if I am not very much mistaken my improved condition of mind and body will be taken into respect and we are leave no doubt to be treated with respect and care (Ruhleben) I witnessed an execution, but I do not think that the theatre which has been constructed under the grand stand, attended any of the executions. In fact, participated in all phases of the life of the camp."

"In all my varied experience I have never seen a more orderly and more cleanly life. The prisoners administer their own affairs under the supervision of the German command. The only error seems to be there just a touch of over-cleaning."

Ruhleben is, of course, a race track, and is much larger than the other camps. The horse-borne fights, with only two or three extra seats, are the only amusement of the barracks. Each has its English club, and the English are in charge of all arrangements of camp life and the social life of the camp.

"This applies equally to camps, hospitals, schools—it is like a normal life, and the prisoners are in shops and science classes. All are permitted to work."

GERMANY'S GAME OF BLUFF HAS FAILED TO DECEIVE THE WORLD

Treatment By the Germans

The senior wireless operator of one of the British vessels sunk by a German submarine has given an interesting account of his experiences.

"We left New York on the same day as the Deutschland," he stated "and proceeded on our voyage without incident till nearing England. I had been on duty till two a.m., and was snatching a few hours' rest in the wireless cabin when I was awakened by the bursting of a shell above my head. The dawn was just breaking, and I immediately made preparations for sending out for help. A second shell, however, from the submarine struck the aerial, and the disconnected the whole apparatus leaving us at the submarine's mercy. The shelling continued for some time.

"The submarine commander directed one of the boats to approach his vessel, and several sailors boarded her, giving analysis and an exam-board. Our cook was taken out of one of the boats, and, with a pistol pointed at his head, was directed to reveal where the stores and provisions were kept. These were loaded in one of the lifeboats still on the vessel, and we then pulled away.

the commander gave certain instructions, and cross-examined the captain, the while a German sailor darted round a gun trained on our boat. The rest of the crew clapping their hands in delight at the prospect of more frightfulness.

"There was one thing I particularly noticed. The submarine had no number, but on the bow was painted the colors of the German flag in a circle. The commander of the submarine, having gained as much information as our captain cared to impart, directed us to pull away and broken English, said, 'Get to hell out of it.' We 'got,' and the last we saw was the submarine manoeuvring round our ship, preparing, no doubt, to give it the coup-de-grace.

"In a fairly rough sea, with a boat full of water, clad only in pyjamas, oil-skin, and lifebelt, was seven hours before we were picked up by another vessel, and the thankful were we when we landed to be received with every hospitality and thankful to have escaped with our lives."
